Numb. 4488

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Thursday November 11. to Monday November 15. 1708.

Westminster, November 13.

THIS Night, at 10 of the Clock, the Procession to the private Interment of his Royal Highness Prince George of Denmark, from the Painted-Chamber within the Palace of Westminster, to the Place of Burial in the Abbey-Church, was performed in the following manner.

Her Majesty's Foot-Guards lined the Way between the Stairs leading from the Painted-Chamber to the Door of the Abbey.

The Knight-Marshal's Men with black Staves two and two made way; after whom followed Gentlemen, Servants to the Nobility; Gentlemen, Servants to her Majesty; Gentlemen, Servants to his Royal Highness; Pages of the Back-Stairs to his Royal Highness; Physician to his Royal Highness; Auditor, Sollicitor and Attorney to his Royal Highness; Houshold Chaplains to Her Majesty; Houshold Chaplains to his Royal Highness; Equeries to Her Majesty; Equeries to his Royal Highness; Pages of Honour to Her Majesty; Pages of Honour to his Royal Highness; the two Secretaries to his Royal Highness; the Honourable the Council to his Royal Highness, as Lord High Admiral; Barons younger Sons; Viscounts younger Sons; Pursuivants and Heralds of Arms; Privy-Counsellors not Peers; Barons eldest Sons; Earls younger Sons; Viscounts eldest Sons; Edward Griffith, Esq; Comptroller of his Royal Highness's Houshold; Walter Chetwynd, Esq; Treasurer; Sir Sewster Peyton, Bar. Steward; the Honourable Spencer Compton, Esq; Chamberlain to his Royal Highness, with their White Staves: Barons; Bishops; Marquesses younger Sons; Earls eldest Sons; Viscounts; Dukes younger Sons; Marquesses eldest Sons; Earls; Dukes eldest Sons; Marquesses.

The Right Honourable the Marquis of Kent, Lord-Chamberlain of her Majesty's Houshold, alone;

DUKES;

His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, Lord-Steward of Her Majesty's Houshold, alone;

Two Officers of Arms.

Lord Privy-Seal, Lord-President of the Council.

Lord High-Treasurer, Lord High-Chancellor.

An Officer of Arms;

The Earl of Bridgwater, Master of the Horse to his Royal Highness, alone;

A King at Arms, bearing a Crown on a black Velvet Cushion, between two Gentlemen Ushers;

The Body carried by Yeomen of the Guard, under a black Velvet Canopy born by his Royal Highness's Gentlemen, the Pall being supported by six Earls;

Garter King of Arms, with a Gentleman Usher on each side;

His Grace the Duke of Somerset the Chief Mourner, supported by the Dukes of Ormond and Grafton, his Train born by a Baronet;

Ten Earls, Assistants to the Chief Mourner, moving two and two;

An Officer of Arms.

The Right Honourable the Lord Delaware, Groom of the Stole, alone;

Gentlemen of the Bed-chamber to his Royal Highness, the Rt. Hon. William Lord Byron, the Rt. Hon. Thomas Earl of Westmorland, the Rt. Hon. Thomas Lord Howard of Effingham, the Rt. Hon. Archibald Earl of Rosberry, the Rt. Hon. Henry Earl of Lincoln;

Master of the Robes to his Royal Highness, Monsignour Christian Sigfried, Baron de Plessen, alone;

Grooms of his Royal Highness's Bed-chamber, the Honourable Charles Churchill, Esq; the Honourable George Churchill, Esq; Thomas Maule, Esq; John Hill, Esq; Hugh Boscawen, Esq; James Vernon, Junior, Esq; Samuel Masham, Esq; Francis Godfrey, Esq;

The Yeomen of the Guard closed the Procession.

At the Door of the Abbey the Dean and Prebends met the Body, and proceeded before it, singing an Anthem, to King Henry the Seventh's Chapel, where it was deposited during Divine Service, the Canopy being held over it, the Supporters of the Pall standing by it, the Chief Mourner and his two Supporters resting themselves in Chairs at the Head of it, while the Nobility proceeded to their Stalls.

After Divine Service the Body was conveyed to the Vault, preceded by the four white Staff Officers to his Royal Highness, and followed by the Chief Mourner, de Garter going before them.

The Secular Office of Burial being performed after an Anthem sung, Garter King of Arms, proclaimed his Royal Highness's Stile, and the white Staff Officers broke their Staves, and threw them into the Vault.

Genoa, November 4. N. S. Sir Edward Whittaker, with the Squadron under his Command, arrived last Week at Leghorn, where he designs to take in fresh Provisions, and Sail from thence to Naples. He has already dispatched Advices to Cardinal Grimani, to desire that all things may be ready upon his arrival for the immediate Embarkation of the Troops which are design'd for Spain. Two Ships are expected here this Week, to take on Board the Regiment of Osnabrug; and, at the same time, Convoy a Battalion of Grisons. This Reinforcement will be in a condition to embark for Barcelona within six Days.

Vienna, November 7. N. S. On the last Day of October, the Malecontents of Hungary, under the Command of Count Anthony Esterhasi, to the Number of 8000, passed the Muhr in three places, and pillaged the Town of Luthenberg, with several Villages in the Neighbourhood, drove away great Numbers of Cattle, and carried off all sorts of Goods and Provisions. When the Letters came away, they continued to destroy all that Tract of Land between the Muhr and the Drave, from Rackelsperg, down to the joining of the two Rivers; and no Troops were near at hand to oppose them. They had invested Czachenthurn, and were battering it with five Pieces of Cannon. While the Hungarians are thus powerful on this side the Danube, we are told they have met with a considerable check in Upper Hungary, in a rencounter with the Imperial Cavalry. Count Berezini's Son is said to have been made Prisoner in the Action; and Count Ozkai, who lately abandoned the Party of the Malecontents, to be killed; but hitherto we have no certain Account of the Particulars, the Court having received no direct advice of this Affair from Marshal Heister. On the 4th Instant Prince Maurice of Savoy arrived here, with the News of the Surrender of the Town of Lisle.

From the Camp at Roussélaer, November 14. N. S. On Friday, the 9th Instant, the Earl of Stairs attacked a Fort that covers Dixmuyde, which he carried after a very short Resistance, and made the Garrison, consisting of 200 Granadiers, commanded by a Lieutenant-Colonel, Prisoners of War. On the 10th Brigadier Evans marched from Langhemarcq, and join'd the Earl of Stairs with five Battalions of Foot, and six Squadrons of Horse more. Prince d'Auvergne has been encamped some days at Annay with thirty four Squadrons, and has sent from thence considerable quantities of Corn to the Prince of Savoy's Army, though the Enemy had detached above 40 Squadrons into those Parts to prevent it. On the 12th Major-General Cadogan went, together with Brigadier Cronstrom, to Turcoin, where they were met by the Commissioners appointed by the Court of France to treat with them about the Exchange of Prisoners; and his Grace the Duke of Marlborough has an Account, that they make a good Progress in that Affair. The Earl of Stairs writes from Loo, near Dixmuyde, that the Country thereabouts bring in their Corn, Cattle, and other Provisions, at the Price he offers, in greater Abundance than could be expected; which will be forwarded, as fast as